DAVID LLOYD GEORGE AND HIS PRETTY DAUGHTER PREPARE TO FACE AMERICA

MRS. LLOYD GEORGE TRAINS HUSBAND FOR ROUND OF SPEECHES, BANQUETS

(By United Press)

English Premier Is In New York Today

New York, Oct. 5.—Lloyd George arrived in New York today.

Early this morning the Cunard liner Mauretania, bearing the distinguished British statesman and war premier, nosed through the Narrows and dropped anchor at Quarantine.

At 8:30 a. m. the police boat Macon, carrying the official committee of welcome departed from Pier A to take Lloyd George from the steamer and bring him up the bay to the Battery, where he will first step on American soil.

GEORGE SLEPT 15 OUT OF 24 HOURS

New York, Oct. 5.—David Lloyd George "trained" for his American tour by sleeping 15 hours out of every 24 on his voyage across.

Realizing he will face a call for a considerable test of his physical resistance, the former British prime minister, under supervision of his wife, Dame Lloyd George, has bent every effort to train for the round of speeches and banquets which will crowd every day of his stay in the New World.

Lloyd George said before landing he felt "the fittest in years."

The Mauretania plowed through mountainous seas for the last 18 hours, and it was only by great exertion of will power that Lloyd George kept from getting seasick. A number of people were in their cabins with seasickness.

The whole Lloyd George family has been reading up on America during the voyage. The former prime minister chose a life of Lincoln to give him an additional insight into the character of the people of the United States. His daughter Megan has been industriously perusing the pages of "Main Street."

VAST CROWD TO SEE THE PREMIER

New York, Oct. 5.—Lloyd George, Britain's war premier, landed at the Battery at 11:50 a. m. today.

A vast crowd which jammed the big square and filled the streets leading into it greeted the statesman with a roar and cheers as he left the police boat Macon on which he came up the bay and entered an automobile for the ride to the city hall.

American and British flags were waved from the skyscrapers and long streamers of ticker tape were thrown, giving a carnival aspect to the scene.

The ranks of policemen stood stiffly at attention as Lloyd George landed. Motorcycles roared as mounted police got into line as the distinguished visitor landed, and the brisk music of a police band aboard the Macon was drowned by the noise of the crowd.

The approach of the Macon was heralded by the whistles of harbor craft and other steamers tooting a welcome.

Just as he landed, the Macon sounded three long blasts of its whistle.

A few minutes later the Macon swung in alongside Pier A where distinguished visitors have always landed for scores of years.

Lloyd George grinned broadly and his eyes twinkled as he stepped down the gangplank.

When he stepped on the pier a

POLICE INSPECTOR GALVIN, BACK FROM EAST, URGES IN- CREASE IN RATE

Minneapolis, Oct. 5.—Traffic moves too slowly in downtown Minneapolis, and should travel at 25 or more miles an hour, Police Inspector John G. Galvin said in a report to Chief of Police Frank W. Brunsell, following his return from a three week inspection and investigation tour of the east, in which he visited New York, Chicago, Cleveland, Detroit and Milwaukee.

"Twenty-five miles an hour, or even 35 miles an hour, should be the rate on properly policed downtown streets where there are no street cars," Inspector Galvin said. "This applies to Nicollet avenue, Third avenue S. and La Salle avenues, especially."

"Traffic moves at 35 miles an hour on Broad street, Philadelphia, at 25 miles on Fifth avenue, New York, and at corresponding rates on thoroughfares in other large eastern cities."

Block automatic semaphores, with a patrolman at each crossing, will solve Minneapolis' problem. We must move faster."

FARM SURVEY OF MIDDLE WEST

(By United Press)
Washington, Oct. 5.—Eugene Meyer, director of the War Finance corporation, and Frank W. Mondell, former Republican leader in the House, who were delegated by President Coolidge to make a survey of the agricultural situation in the middle west will leave on their tour of inspection from Chicago next Monday, it was announced today.

When Meyer and Mondell have completed their survey they will make recommendations to Mr. Coolidge covering financial relief for farmers.

Lloyd George stood for a moment gazing almost in awe at the spectacle of the crowded square walled with towering buildings and cheering men and women. He flourished his silk hat and stepped into his automobile.

With him were his wife and his daughter, Megan. As the procession started up the long canyon of lower Broadway between the crowded lines of confetti and long streamers of tape were thrown.

IRISH SYMPATHIZERS FORM IN PARADE

New York, Oct. 5.—Irish Republic sympathizers gathered at City Hall park a few minutes before Lloyd George was due to arrive and there began their march in a long column, displaying placards denouncing Great Britain.

Police quickly destroyed the placards and dispersed the marchers.

The demonstration arrived in automobiles, formed their line of march and passed slowly along Park Row. The cards, bearing denunciatory

"I WAS GIVEN BLUE TABLETS," SAID DYING WOMAN

MYSTERIOUS MALADY CAUSED DEATH OF MRS. GERTIE GORMAN WEBB

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., GRAND JURY INVESTIGATING IF SHE WAS KILLED

(By United Press)

White Plains, N. Y., Oct. 5.—

"I was given blue tablets."

These last words of Mrs. Gertie Gorman Webb, uttered shortly before she died of a mysterious malady, will be placed before the White Plains grand jury which is investigating to decide whether she was murdered, it was learned today.

Dr. William J. Meyer, who attended Mrs. Webb in her final illness, is expected to go before the jury next Monday and reveal the conversations he had with the dying woman.

The report of Dr. Alexander Gettler, toxicologist, who examined Mrs. Webb's organs for indications of poison, resulted in the discovery of mercury in the liver and kidneys. Dr. Gettler, however, could not say definitely that this poison caused death, as it was in very small quantities. Furthermore he could not say positively that it was bichloride of mercury.

Dr. Gettler's report has been placed before District Attorney Arthur Rowland of Westchester to be examined in detail today. He will submit it to the grand jury later.

Dr. Meyer, who had a deathbed conference with Mrs. Webb, has already testified before the grand jury and is expected to appear again next Monday. At that time he will give much additional information which he says he has recalled since his first visit to the jury room.

Friends and relatives have been consulted as to whether it would be advisable to ask the governor to interfere in the case and put it in the hands of Attorney General Sherman. Relatives at the same time made plans to contest Mrs. Webb's will, which left everything to her husband of less than a year, Charles Webb. They wish to have a previous will admitted to probate instead of this will. The previous will divided up Mrs. Webb's estate among many of her relatives.

Dr. Meyer, who personally investigated the death of Mrs. Webb but refused to sign a death certificate, told a dramatic story of the dying woman's last moments.

He declared that he told her she was dying, and asked her if she knew of any way in which poison could have been introduced into her system.

Weakly and rolling her head from side to side on the pillow, she finally revealed the manner in which she believed she had been poisoned. She also, according to Dr. Meyer, gave the name of the person who mixed the solutions. The tablets, which were used, she said, were blue.

Dr. Meyer said that Mrs. Margaret S. Johnston, old friend of the deceased, was a witness to this conversation, which he recalled after Mrs. Webb died, and laid before the coroner as his suspicions. The investigation then started.

GIANTS DOWN ORIOLES WITH RUTH IN LINEUP

New York, Oct. 5.—The New York Giants, National league champions, defeated Baltimore, International league pennant winners, in an exhibition game, 9 to 3. Babe Ruth, Aaron Ward and Elmer Smith of the Yankees, took part in the contest, which was for the benefit of John B. Day, and James Mutter, who were associated in the ownership of the Giants in the early days of the club. Ruth retired after knocking out a home run in the fifth inning.

'FALL CABINET' OF STRESEMANN SOON TO BE ANNOUNCED

(By United Press)
Berlin, Oct. 5.—Chancellor Stresemann was expected to be able to present his new "fall cabinet" some time today.

Formation of the new government was reported practically complete after considerable difficulty.

A declaration of policy in the chancellor's speech presenting the new government was also expected.

The list of new ministers was reported tentatively as follows: Stresemann, chancellor and foreign affairs.

Gessler, army.

Brauns, labor.

Luther, finance and economy.

Von Oppen, food and agriculture.

Fuchs, occupied area.

Heinrich, interior.

Postoffices and railways were still unfilled, and both portfolios may be left vacant.

FIRST SENTENCED TO PAY EXCISE

(By United Press)
St. Paul, Oct. 5.—Ed Simond, Waconia, is the first man to be sentenced by Minnesota's new prohibition court to pay an excise on illegal manufactured liquor.

The decree first announced by the court was given by Judge Raymond W. Johnston.

The case was tried in court at St. Paul September 26 and has been under advisement since.

Simond will be fined $550, and failure to pay the amount within 30 days will result in seizure of his property to satisfy the government's claim, according to Judge Johnston.

Tom Berry, Brainerd, tried before the court September 27, has been found not guilty of selling liquor and his case dismissed.

Only three cases have thus far been brought before the court, the case involving James Gravell, Brainerd, having been dismissed after its hearing.

Although 57 court cases were scheduled to be tried, none of them will be handled by the prohibition court until Judges McGee and Booth announce their decision on the proposed injunction against the tribunal, Johnston said. Accordingly it is likely that the court will not resume its activities providing the injunction is not granted until the first of November.

36 ALLEGED "WOBBLES" HELD

(By United Press)

Fargo, N. D., Oct. 5.—Thirty-six alleged "wobblers" were held today on charges of selling papers on the streets without permits. They are to be given hearings this afternoon.

The papers contained announcements of a national convention of the agricultural branch of the I. W. W. to be held here Monday.

F. Mann, Chicago, was here to open the convention.

Mann is preparing to outline next year's plans and take some action to arouse sentiment for release of so-called war prisoners, Mann said.

ANTHRACITE COAL INVESTIGATION ON

(By United Press)

Washington, Oct. 5.—Announcement was made today by the Interstate Commerce commission that "for good cause" the commission's sweeping investigation of rates and charges covering transportation of anthracite coal had been re-opened.

The commission held one hearing on this subject attended by only three anthracite carrying railroads. Failure of other roads to attend automatically closed the investigation. No time or place for a new hearing was announced.

NATIONAL GUARD TO BOMBARD THE ENTRENCHED MEN

ENTIRE BOARD OF CHARITIES AND CORRECTIONS TO SEE THE ATTACK

DYNAMITE TO BE USED, IF NECESSARY, TO BLOW OUT LIFE-ERS FROM MESS HALL

(By United Press)

Eddyville, Ky., Oct. 5.—All action in efforts to dislodge the three prisoners barricaded in the prison mess hall here has been postponed until 5:30 p. m., Capt. A. B. Radford, commander of Company C. Kentucky National Guard, announced at 9:30 a. m. today.

Orders were received by Warden John Chilton to delay action until the arrival of the entire board of charities and corrections this afternoon.

REGULAR ARMY IS ASSEMBLED

Kentucky State Prison, Eddyville, Ky., Oct. 5.—The Kentucky state prison and immediate territory was on a war basis today as national guardsmen, state police, prison guards and deputy sheriffs, equipped with machine guns, rifles, gas bombs and hand grenades prepared to assault the little brick structure which three desperate convicts have been holding against great odds since Wednesday morning.

Three prison guards were killed by the convicts. Governor Morrow has ordered the convicts taken dead or alive before nightfall, according to word here.

A second company of national guardsmen arrived from Mayfield today, and preparations are now under way to capture the stronghold—to blow it up with dynamite if necessary. Warden John Chilton, in spite of the fact that he had been ordered to bed by physicians, declared he would remain at his post until capture of the convicts.

It is just a little red brick, two story building, standing in defiance of the guns and rifles of the police and guards, although doors and windows had been shattered by machine gun fire, which had torn holes in the crumbling brick walls as large as doors.

Situated in the exact center of the circular prison wall, it makes an almost impregnable fortress for the three men—Montreville Walters, Harry Forland, and Lawrence Griffith, all murderers.

The structure has a basement in which there are brick ovens and many other places in which they can hide.

STARING EYES TOUCHED CONSCIENCE

(By United Press)

Stockton, Calif., Oct. 5. Staring eyes of hundreds of people everywhere he went drove Alex Kells back to California, despite almost certain arrest for murder.

Kells made that admission today as he awaited further hearing on the charge of having murdered an unidentified stranger, whose body he permitted Mrs. Kells to bury as that of her husband.

He wanted Mrs. Kells to collect $100,000 life insurance and straighten out his tangled business affairs. "Everywhere I went," Kells said, "it seemed that everyone was staring at me. I couldn't stand it. Instead of going to Mexico as I planned after travelling through Arizona, Texas, Colorado, Nevada, I finally came back to California."

"I knew it was dangerous to come back to this state, but I couldn't help it. My friends were here, and I had to come."

"I WAS GIVEN BLUE TABLETS," SAID DYING WOMAN

MYSTERIOUS MALADY CAUSED DEATH OF MRS. GERTIE GORMAN WEBB

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., GRAND JURY INVESTIGATING IF SHE WAS KILLED

(By United Press)

White Plains, N. Y., Oct. 5.—

"I was given blue tablets," These last words of Mrs. Gertie Gorman Webb, uttered shortly before she died of a mysterious malady, will be placed before the White Plains grand jury which is investigating to decide whether she was murdered, it was learned today.

Dr. William J. Meyer, who attended Mrs. Webb in her final illness, is expected to go before the jury next Monday and reveal the conversations he had with the dying woman.

The report of Dr. Alexander Gettler, toxicologist, who examined Mrs. Webb's organs for indications of poison, resulted in the discovery of mercury in the liver and kidneys. Dr. Gettler, however, could not say definitely that this poison caused death, as it was in very small quantities. Furthermore he could not say positively that it was bichloride of mercury.

Dr. Gettler's report has been placed before District Attorney Arthur Rowland of Westchester to be examined in detail today. He will submit it to the grand jury later.

Dr. Meyer, who had a deathbed conference with Mrs. Webb, has already testified before the grand jury and is expected to appear again next Monday. At that time he will give much additional information which he says he has recalled since his first visit to the jury room.

Friends and relatives have been consulted as to whether it would be advisable to ask the governor to intercede in the case and put it in the hands of Attorney General Sherman. Relatives at the same time made plans to contest Mrs. Webb's will, which left everything to her husband of less than a year, Charles Webb. They wish to have a previous will admitted to probate instead of this will. The previous will divided up Mrs. Webb's estate among many of her relatives.

Dr. Meyer, who personally investigated the death of Mrs. Webb but refused to sign a death certificate, told a dramatic story of the dying woman's last moments.

He declared that he told her she was dying, and asked her if she knew of any way in which poison could have been introduced into her system.

Weakly and rolling her head from side to side on the pillow, she finally revealed the manner in which she believed she had been poisoned. She also, according to Dr. Meyer, gave the name of the person who mixed the solutions. The tablets, which were used, she said, were blue.

Dr. Meyer said that Mrs. Margaret S. Johnston, old friend of the deceased, was a witness to this conversation, which he recalled after Mrs. Webb died, and laid before the coroner as his suspicions. The investigation then started.

GIANTS DOWN ORIOLES WITH RUTH IN LINEUP

New York, Oct. 5.—The New York Giants, National league champions, defeated Baltimore, International league pennant winners, in an exhibition game, 9 to 3. Babe Ruth, Aaron Ward and Elmer Smith of the Yankees, took part in the contest, which was for the benefit of John B. Day, and James Mutter, who were associated in the ownership of the Giants in the early days of the club. Ruth retired after knocking out a home run in the fifth inning.

'FALL CABINET' OF STRESEMAN SOON TO BE ANNOUNCED

(By United Press)
Berlin, Oct. 5.—Chancellor Stresemann was expected to be able to present his new "fall cabinet" some time today.

Formation of the new government was reported practically complete after considerable difficulty.

A declaration of policy in the chancellor's speech presenting the new government was also expected.

The list of new ministers was reported tentatively as follows: Stresemann, chancellor and foreign affairs.

Gessler, army.

Brauns, labor.

Luther, finance and economy.

Von Oppen, food and agriculture.

Fuchs, occupied area.

Heinrich, interior.

Postoffices and railways were still unfilled, and both portfolios may be left vacant.

FIRST SENTENCED TO PAY EXCISE

(By United Press)
St. Paul, Oct. 5.—Ed Simond, Waconia, is the first man to be sentenced by Minnesota's new prohibition court to pay an excise on illegal manufactured liquor.

The decree first announced by the court was given by Judge Raymond W. Johnston.

The case was tried in court at St. Paul September 26 and has been under advisement since.

Simond will be fined $550, and failure to pay the amount within 30 days will result in seizure of his property to satisfy the government's claim, according to Judge Johnston.

Tom Berry, Brainerd, tried before the court September 27, has been found not guilty of selling liquor and his case dismissed.

Only three cases have thus far been brought before the court, the case involving James Gravell, Brainerd, having been dismissed after its hearing.

Although 57 court cases were scheduled to be tried, none of them will be handled by the prohibition court until Judges McGee and Booth announce their decision on the proposed injunction against the tribunal, Johnston said. Accordingly it is likely that the court will not resume its activities providing the injunction is not granted until the first of November.

36 ALLEGED "WOBBLES" HELD

(By United Press)
 Fargo, N. D., Oct. 5.—Thirty-six alleged "wobblers" were held today on charges of selling papers on the streets without permits. They are to be given hearings this afternoon.

The papers contained announcements of a national convention of the agricultural branch of the I. W. W. to be held here Monday.

F. Mann, Chicago, was here to open the convention.

Mann is preparing to outline next year's plans and take some action to arouse sentiment for release of so-called war prisoners, Mann said.

ANTHRACITE COAL INVESTIGATION ON

(By United Press)
Washington, Oct. 5.—Announcement was made today by the Interstate Commerce commission that "for good cause" the commission's sweeping investigation of rates and charges covering transportation of anthracite coal had been re-opened.

The commission held one hearing on this subject attended by only three anthracite carrying railroads. Failure of other roads to attend automatically closed the investigation. No time or place for a new hearing was announced.

NATIONAL GUARD TO BOMBARD THE ENTRENCHED MEN

ENTIRE BOARD OF CHARITIES AND CORRECTIONS TO SEE THE ATTACK

DYNAMITE TO BE USED, IF NECESSARY, TO BLOW OUT LIFERS FROM MESS HALL

(By United Press)

Eddyville, Ky., Oct. 5.—All action in efforts to dislodge the three prisoners barricaded in the prison mess hall here has been postponed until 5:30 p. m., Capt. A. B. Radford, commander of Company C. Kentucky National Guard, announced at 9:30 a. m. today.

Orders were received by Warden John Chilton to delay action until the arrival of the entire board of charities and corrections this afternoon.

REGULAR ARMY IS ASSEMBLED

Kentucky State Prison, Eddyville, Ky., Oct. 5.—The Kentucky state prison and immediate territory was on a war basis today as national guardsmen, state police, prison guards and deputy sheriffs, equipped with machine guns, rifles, gas bombs and hand grenades prepared to assault the little brick structure which three desperate convicts have been holding against great odds since Wednesday morning.

Three prison guards were killed by the convicts. Governor Morrow has ordered the convicts taken dead or alive before nightfall, according to word here.

A second company of national guardsmen arrived from Mayfield today, and preparations are now under way to capture the stronghold—to blow it up with dynamite if necessary. Warden John Chilton, in spite of the fact that he had been ordered to bed by physicians, declared he would remain at his post until capture of the convicts.

It is just a little red brick, two story building, standing in defiance of the guns and rifles of the police and guards, although doors and windows had been shattered by machine gun fire, which had torn holes in the crumbling brick walls as large as doors.

Situated in the exact center of the circular prison wall, it makes an almost impregnable fortress for the three men—Montreville Walters, Harry Forland, and Lawrence Griffith, all murderers.

The structure has a basement in which there are brick ovens and many other places in which they can hide.

STARING EYES TOUCHED CONSCIENCE

(By United Press)
Stockton, Calif., Oct. 5. Staring eyes of hundreds of people everywhere he went drove Alex Kells back to California, despite almost certain arrest for murder.

Kells made that admission today as he awaited further hearing on the charge of having murdered an unidentified stranger, whose body he permitted Mrs. Kells to bury as that of her husband.

He wanted Mrs. Kells to collect $100,000 life insurance and straighten out his tangled business affairs. "Everywhere I went," Kells said, "it seemed that everyone was staring at me. I couldn't stand it. Instead of going to Mexico as I planned after travelling through Arizona, Texas, Colorado, Nevada, I finally came back to California."

"I knew it was dangerous to come back to this state, but I couldn't help it. My friends were here, and I had to come."

The Instructor and Health

Teaching is the most nerve racking occupation there is. The constant strain to keep order, to aid the laggards, to suppress the mischievous, calls for the expenditure of every ounce of energy, daily, that a teacher has. Should some slight ailment take a part of that energy, then she begins to get nervous, her classes lag, and her health departs. Chiropractic adjustments will keep you in trim.

The Instructor and Health

Teaching is the most nerve racking occupation there is. The constant strain to keep order, to aid the laggards, to suppress the mischievous, calls for the expenditure of every ounce of energy, daily, that a teacher has. Should some slight ailment take a part of that energy, then she begins to get nervous, her classes lag, and her health departs. Chiropractic adjustments will keep you in trim.

Consultation, spinal analysis and booklets free. House and country calls made, day or night.

PLAY THE GAME

By DOROTHY KNIGHT

"DO YOU mean to say there is no train out of this deserted village for five hours?"

"No, madam," replied the agent. "Isn't there any possible way of my getting to Vernon before that?"

The agent shook his head. "The 'deserted village' was Harris Junction, and it or its counterpart will be familiar to anyone who has ever traveled in the Middle West. There was a small hotel labeled 'Junction House.'"

"There is an automobile in front of that house. Do you think its owner would drive me to Vernon?"

"Well, you can ask him," said the agent, doubtfully.

She crossed the dusty street in the glaring sun, leaving four other travelers, who were also waiting for the five-hour-old train.

One of these was a very attractive young woman, who showed great sympathy with the older woman when she came back from her animated talk with the man across the street, with a slightly dejected expression.

"Oh, I'm so sorry you were not successful."

The older woman's face brightened at this sign of friendliness. She introduced herself as Mrs. Black, from New York, and started to tell her troubles.

"Well, of all the obstinate men! Would you believe it, Miss—," she hesitated.

"Mrs. Carlton."

"Would you believe it, Mrs. Carlton? That man actually refuses to budge out of this junction unless he is called on a case. He is a doctor and has located here because it is the center of his district, and he feels it his duty to be always on call. I offered to pay him most liberally. It is only 35 miles to Vernon and he wouldn't be gone forever."

"Is it awfully important that you should get there at once?"

"Well, I am very anxious to do so. Of course, it's not a life and death affair, but I am going to visit my mother, and I haven't seen her in years. It is to be a complete surprise. She has no idea I'm coming, and it's such a bore waiting here. I think the doctor might make an exception in my case, even if it is his rule never to leave except on a case. By the way, are you going in my direction?"

"Yes, to Winston, the next station beyond Vernon."

"Oh, I have an idea. Why don't you tell the doctor you are going to visit a sick relative? I'm sure he would go for anything important, and then I can go along, too. Will you?" She paused expectantly.

Mrs. Carlton blushed in embarrassment and perplexity. It was plainly to be seen that she did not want to do it, and yet she hated to refuse.

"Oh, well, if you have a New England conscience, you are excused."

"Well, I am from New England, but I'm afraid my conscience isn't that variety, for it was not inborn, as the good old New England conscience should be."

"That sounds interesting. Won't you tell me about it?"

"Why, it's my whole life story, but perhaps I can tell it briefly. I always went through life in a careless, happy-go-lucky way. I never thought I was exactly selfish, and I don't think my friends did, either. But I always wanted to do as I pleased without restrictions."

"Naturally, when the war came, and Jim and I were married, I thought I had to be permitted to go to France, where I would be able to see him whenever he could get a leave of absence, although I knew that there was an iron-bound rule against soldiers' wives going overseas. So I got across, and soon after, Jim came. But as fate had it, I never saw him once. He was wounded in his very first battle and invalided home."

"I learned I was only one individual cog in the universal machine, and important as my affairs might seem to me to be, they were really insignificant. 'I made a vow then and there that I would play the game strictly according to rules after that, and never claim exemptions from inconveniences, responsibilities or actual hardships.'"

Just as her story ended, they were startled by cries from the road, where there had been a slight automobile accident. The doctor rushed from his side of the road and Mrs. Carlton rushed from hers. The others fearing they would be in the way, stayed where they were and watched anxiously as a woman was being carried into the doctor's house. The others were uninjured.

Soon Mrs. Carlton came back. "Nothing serious. One woman was bruised a little and the bandaged her up. But she has a very weak heart, and the shock might have proved fatal had there been no doctor present to give the proper stimulant. But as it is, she is all right."

Mrs. Black turned pale as she realized there would have been no doctor present if she had had her way.

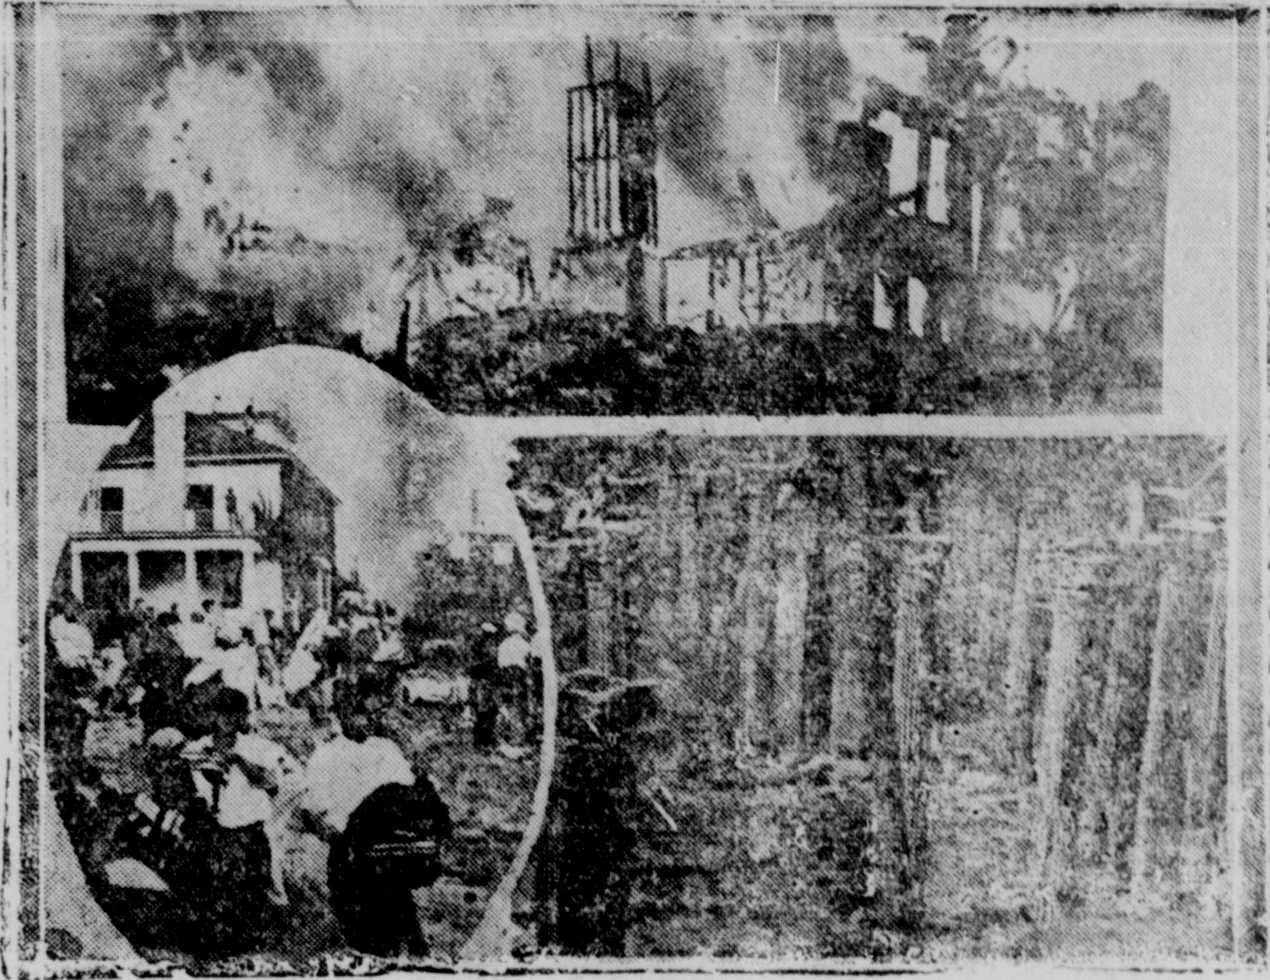

"Mr. and Mrs. Gregory and their friend, who was hurt, are from Vernon, so you will have a chance to go by machine, after all, and you will still save three hours."

"Mr. and Mrs. Gregory? Why, they are friends of—," Then, in a frightened voice, "Who was the woman with them?"

"A Mrs. Walker, I think."

"Mother!"

TEN MILLION DOLLAR FIRE SWEEPS BERKELEY, CALIFORNIA

Top photograph was taken at Le Conte and Hearst Avenues, in the heart of the fashionable residential district, at the height of the conflagration. Lower left, students of the University of California rushing from class rooms in an effort to salvage their possessions. Lower right, the ruins of C. C. Boynton's "Grecian Temple" home, only the fluted columns of stone withstood the fire ravages which did $10,000,000 damages. The Boynton family, exponents of esthetic dancing practiced their art in the "Temple."

Usually the Way.

"Well, Bobby," said the minister to the small son of one of his deacons, "what is the news?"

"Dad's got a new set of false teeth."

"Indeed!" said the minister, restraining a desire to laugh; "and what will he do with the old set?"

"Oh, I suppose," replied Bobby, "he'll cut 'em down and make me wear 'em."

Cheering Him Up.

Unsuccessful Author—After my death the world will realize what I have done.

Sympathetic Friend—Well, don't worry about it, old chap. You'll be out of harm's way then.—Boston Transcript.

His Idea.

"Do you consider it unlucky to be married on the 13th of the month?"

"Certainly!" replied skimp little Mr. Meek, whose wife was away. "But why specify the date?"—Kansas City Star.

Natural Conclusion.

A gentleman rancher fell in love with a society girl from the East who was visiting at the adjacent ranch. It was decided to have the wedding in a little town near by. Many fashionable folks came on to attend. The foreman of the groom's ranch was to be head usher. The evening of the wedding found him on hand (very ill at ease in a dress suit. He was explained his duties and told that it was important to seat the friends of the groom on one side of the church, the friends of the bride on the other. Or fearing this he cleared up visibly and sent for his revolver. The groom asked him what on earth that meant.

"Why," said the foreman, "I see you expect a fight."

The agent shook his head. "The 'deserted village' was Harris Junction, and it or its counterpart will be familiar to anyone who has ever traveled in the Middle West. There was a small hotel labeled 'Junction House.'"

"There is an automobile in front of that house. Do you think its owner would drive me to Vernon?"

"Well, you can ask him," said the agent, doubtfully.

She crossed the dusty street in the glaring sun, leaving four other travelers, who were also waiting for the five-hour-old train.

One of these was a very attractive young woman, who showed great sympathy with the older woman when she came back from her animated talk with the man across the street, with a slightly dejected expression. "Oh, I'm so sorry you were not successful."

The older woman's face brightened at this sign of friendliness. She introduced herself as Mrs. Black, from New York, and started to tell her troubles.

"Well, of all the obstinate men! Would you believe it, Miss—," she hesitated.

"Mrs. Carlton."

"Would you believe it, Mrs. Carlton? That man actually refuses to budge out of this junction unless he is called on a case. He is a doctor and has located here because it is the center of his district, and he feels it his duty to be always on call. I offered to pay him most liberally. It is only 35 miles to Vernon and he wouldn't be gone forever."

"Is it awfully important that you should get there at once?"

"Well, I am very anxious to do so. Of course, it's not a life and death affair, but I am going to visit my mother, and I haven't seen her in years. It is to be a complete surprise. She has no idea I'm coming, and it's such a bore waiting here. I think the doctor might make an exception in my case, even if it is his rule never to leave except on a case. By the way, are you going in my direction?"

"Yes, to Winston, the next station beyond Vernon."

"Oh, I have an idea. Why don't you tell the doctor you are going to visit a sick relative? I'm sure he would go for anything important, and then I can go along, too. Will you?" She paused expectantly.

Mrs. Carlton blushed in embarrassment and perplexity. It was plainly to be seen that she did not want to do it, and yet she hated to refuse.

"Oh, well, if you have a New England conscience, you are excused."

"Well, I am from New England, but I'm afraid my conscience isn't that variety, for it was not inborn, as the good old New England conscience should be."

"That sounds interesting. Won't you tell me about it?"

"Why, it's my whole life story, but perhaps I can tell it briefly. I always went through life in a careless, happy-go-lucky way. I never thought I was exactly selfish, and I don't think my friends did, either. But I always wanted to do as I pleased without restrictions."

"Naturally, when the war came, and Jim and I were married, I thought I had to be permitted to go to France, where I would be able to see him whenever he could get a leave of absence, although I knew that there was an iron-bound rule against soldiers' wives going overseas. So I got across, and soon after, Jim came. But as fate had it, I never saw him once. He was wounded in his very first battle and invalided home."

"I learned I was only one individual cog in the universal machine, and important as my affairs might seem to me to be, they were really insignificant. 'I made a vow then and there that I would play the game strictly according to rules after that, and never claim exemptions from inconveniences, responsibilities or actual hardships.'"

Just as her story ended, they were startled by cries from the road, where there had been a slight automobile accident. The doctor rushed from his side of the road and Mrs. Carlton rushed from hers. The others fearing they would be in the way, stayed where they were and watched anxiously as a woman was being carried into the doctor's house. The others were uninjured.

Soon Mrs. Carlton came back. "Nothing serious. One woman was bruised a little and the bandaged her up. But she has a very weak heart, and the shock might have proved fatal had there been no doctor present to give the proper stimulant. But as it is, she is all right."

Mrs. Black turned pale as she realized there would have been no doctor present if she had had her way.

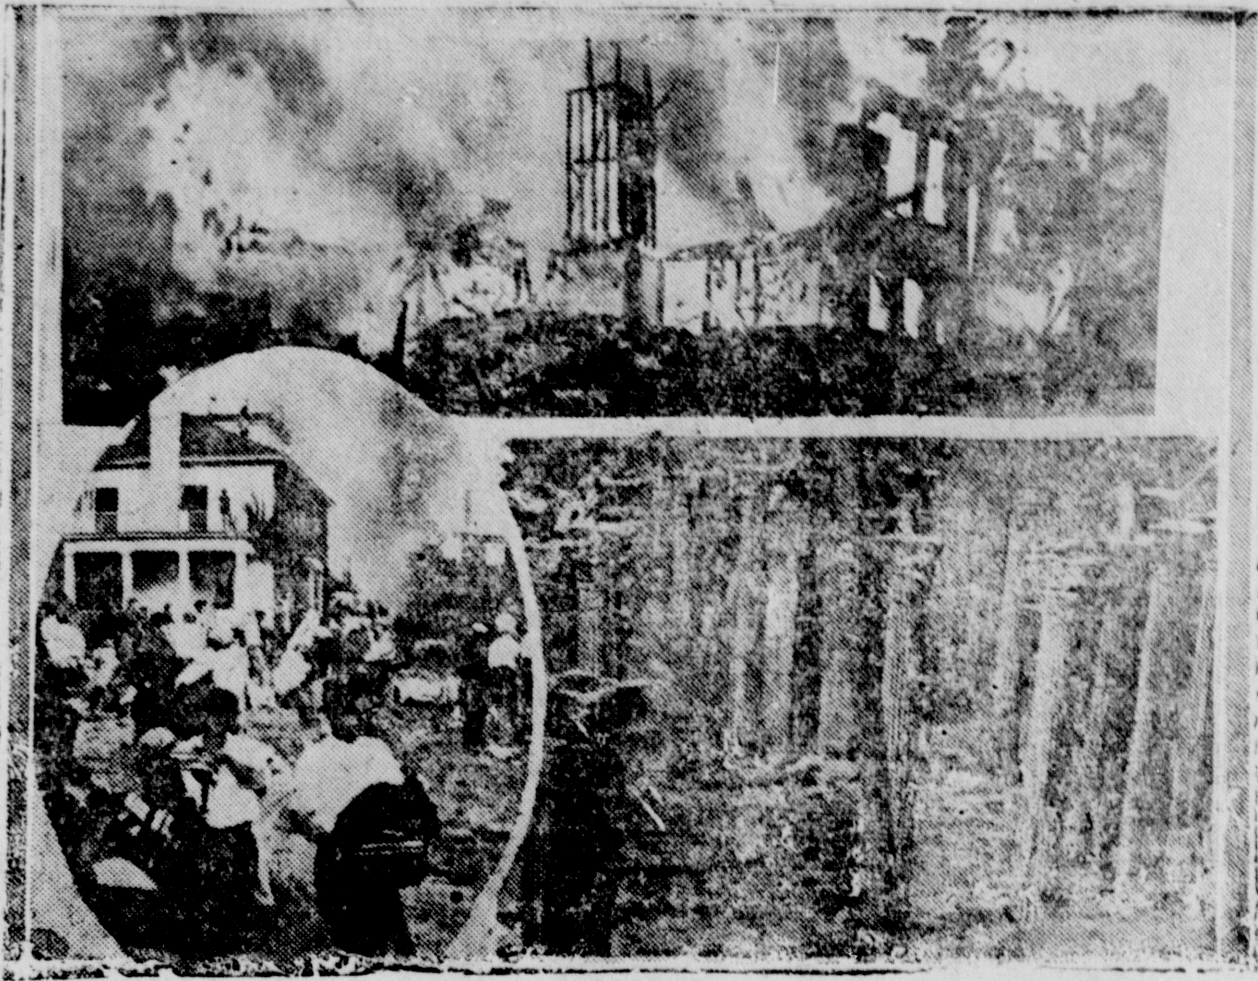

"Mr. and Mrs. Gregory and their friend, who was hurt, are from Vernon, so you will have a chance to go by machine, after all, and you will still save three hours."

"Mr. and Mrs. Gregory? Why, they are friends of—," Then, in a frightened voice, "Who was the woman with them?"

"A Mrs. Walker, I think."

"Mother!"

TEN MILLION DOLLAR FIRE SWEEPS BERKELEY, CALIFORNIA

Top photograph was taken at Le Conte and Hearst Avenues, in the heart of the fashionable residential district, at the height of the conflagration. Lower left, students of the University of California rushing from class rooms in an effort to salvage their possessions. Lower right, the ruins of C. C. Boynton's "Grecian Temple" home, only the fluted columns of store withstood the fire ravages which did $10,000,000 damages. The Boynton family, exponents of esthetic dancing practiced their art in the "Temple."

"Well, Bobby," said the minister to the small son of one of his deacons. "what is the news?"

"Dad's got a new set of false teeth."

"Indeed!" said the minister, restraining a desire to laugh; "and what will he do with the old set?"

"Oh, I suppose," replied Bobby, "he'll cut 'em down and make me wear 'em."

Natural Conclusion.

A gentleman rancher fell in love with a society girl from the East who was visiting at the adjacent ranch. It was decided to have the wedding in a little cow town near by. Many fashionable folks came on to attend. The foreman of the groom's ranch was to be head usher. The evening of the wedding found him on hand (very ill) at ease in a dress suit. He was explaining his duties and told that it was important to seat the friends of the groom on one side of the church, the friends of the bride on the other. Or tearing this he cleared up visibly and sent for his revolver. The groom asked him what on earth that meant.

"Why," said the foreman, "I see you expect a fight."

REGULATING TRAFFIC IN ARMS

THE League of Nations is attending to some matters of vital importance to the peoples of the nations of the world. While the league lost considerable in prestige because it was unable to exert its strength to prevent the display of force that Mussolini displayed when Italy was seeking to compel Greece to yield to Italian demands, the machinery of the league is still at work and some good is bound to result from the efforts it is making to prevent future wars. In the light of what has since happened it may have been well for Europe that the League of Nations did not take a strong stand in the Greco-Italian dispute. The passions of the Italian people were aroused and if the League of Nations had ruled firmly it is possible that bloodshed would have resulted. Of course the League of Nations was under obligation to settle the dispute according to its constitution, and while it did not rule on the matters in dispute it passed them over to the council of ambassadors which was able to bring about a settlement. The announcement that Mussolini has returned part of the money exacted from Greece for relief work in Greece shows that it may have been well that there was no interference with the parties to the dispute. And yet, if the League of Nations is to be respected, it must show itself worthy of respect. To which it may be replied that the result of the silence of the league on the Greco-Italian matters has been for Europe's good.

The League of Nations has recommended certain mutual guaranties which the nations are asked to accept for the purpose of reducing arms and the traffic in arms to the end that universal disarmament may be forwarded. It is to be expected that those who are in any way profiting by the manufacture or traffic in arms will attempt to discredit any efforts of this kind, but the people will be ready to encourage such efforts and they will not spurn them because they are initiated by an unpopular body. The American Legion is asking that a conference be called for the purpose of limiting the air forces of the nations, and the legion is pledged to further disarmament proposals so far as these are consistent with national safety, and what the legion is attempting will have the support of the people in general. The United States is likely to listen kindly to a proposal of this kind even though it is not a party to the League of Nations. The League of Nations has representatives from most of the nations of the world and it is a proper place for the initiation of such attempts to limit armaments, and the United States, while refusing to become involved in the political affairs of Europe and the league, may very well take part in discussions which have as their purpose the limitation of armament by mutual agreement. Such a conference would extend the work of the Washington conference on the limitation of naval armament.

TREATING WITH THE INSURGENTS

THE policy of the last administration did not work out satisfactorily with regard to withholding the power of political patronage from those who were not fully in accord with the general policies of the republican party. Senator Robert M. La Follette and others who had stepped out of the fold were kept out of the fold and coldly treated by the majority of the party. The attitude of the party to the somewhat radical minority was like unto that of the youth who said: "There are some in here who are not in. Will all those who are not in get out?" Senators and representatives who were not in full accord with the party's policy were relieved of the necessity of filling political vacancies in their districts, but that did not strengthen the party as the party found to its surprise and chagrin. Although robbed of this means of building up a political machine in his state Senator La Follette won the last election in Wisconsin by an unprecedented majority.

This is to be changed. In deciding this the party has been influenced not by any particular liking for the views of the insurgents but by the facts of the situation. In the Northwest the discontent has been spreading despite the last administration's refusal to deal kindly with those elected by the people, and, after due recognition of this fact, the present administration is ready to resume more cordial relations with men who are members of the republican party even though they are out of accord with many of its policies. There is no earthly reason why there should not be unity in diversity. There is room for different opinions within the party and a variety of opinion will result in legislation that is more in accord with public sentiment. It is certain that there are many in the republican party that do not agree with the majority sentiment in that party and something of this was disclosed in 1912 and was again disclosed in 1922.

The administration has come to the conclusion that a policy of boycott is not winning practical results and the party is after results. If the leaders are interested in the policies of the insurgents so that they will be willing to compromise on some things there is hope in this attempt to receive them into the fold, but if the effort is prompted by the party's desire to win votes in the next election without giving due recognition to the claims of the insurgents the attempt to woo them into the party will be hopeless. With insurgency on the gain the insurgents are not likely to be won unless they are given more than an invitation to return and be forgiven. They are in a position to dictate the terms of the armistice and unless these are considered they have the strength to fight on. For the party's success and the country's good there must be sensible compromise that will tone down the demands of radicals and liberalize the policies of the conservatives.

It is full of romance and possesses a certain naive quality so far as the feminine leading role is concerned.

Rex Beach Won Fame With "The Spoilers"

A literary person with a passion for figures has estimated that fully ten million books dealing with Alaska have been sold. Two names head the list of best sellers of Alaska novels. They are Rex Beach and Jack London.

Rex Beach's novel, "The Spoilers," according to the figures, is the most popular novel ever written about the far north. Its sales have run to the half million mark. Numerous editions have been printed. It is even now selling as well as the average novel, and it has been nearly twenty years since it was published. Interest in the book was revived by the announcement that it was being filmed on an elaborate scale by Jesse D. Hampton at the Goldwyn studios. When it was screened some years ago it was the first big American picture. The new version has an all-star cast headed by Milton Sills, Barbara Bedford, Anna Q. Nilsson and Noah Beery. It will be the attraction at the New Park Theatre for two days, beginning Saturday.

COMPARE

The Maximum of Proved Intrinsic Value VS. Many Extravagant Claims of Superiority

SO many announcements of new model cars contain extravagant claims for the same superlatives that it is puzzling to the buyer to know which value is real and which is only a claim.

This year the issue has been confused by the introduction of mechanical changes, some of which have been rushed into production while still in the experimental stage—and then immediately given wide publicity.

Important considerations have been overlooked and great stress placed upon unimportant details.

But the man who intends to buy a motor car need not let this confusion or this glamour of publicity lead him to make a mistake or risk satisfaction in his purchase. The automobiles themselves are available for comparison.

See and be convinced. Riding is believing. As an aid to intelligent buying we offer the following suggestions:

Place the 1924 model Studebaker Light-Six Touring Car at $995 alongside any car you may select as belonging in the same class. Every car looks well in the pictures—most cars make a good impression in their own show windows. The Studebaker Light-Six looks a winner alongside the best-looking competitor you can find. And it's larger, more substantial, roomier, more comfortable looking—and is more comfortable.

Compare the top. Look inside and out. The Studebaker top is sturdily built. Has four stout cross bows. Top material is same as is so satisfactorily used in the Bi-Six. Notice the fit, feel the quality. The rear curtain is one-piece—has no seams—with a large rectangular window bound by an enameled molding.

Compare the body. Studebaker has a roomy, substantial, carefully made body—all-steel even to its framework, which permits a finish in baked enamel. A depressed belt line runs around the body and through the hood and radiator, adding to its distinctive appearance.

Compare the one-piece, rain-proof windshield, with built-in cowls, lamps, with the ordinary two-piece windshield with rubber strip that leaks in every rain and always obstructs the driver's vision. Notice the large cowl ventilator that is quickly operated by merely moving the regulator backward or forward.

Compare the Studebaker door trimmings and fittings with the door fittings of other cars. Notice that the door pocket flaps have weights to hold them in position. Man-sized door handles and latches, positive-action door locks that catch with a snap and stay closed. Heavy hinges properly located and proportioned. Highest grade trimming material instead of painted cardboard. Fastening nails concealed.

Compare the aluminum-bound linoleum that is neatly fitted and fastened to the floor boards of this 1924 Studebaker Light-Six with the rubber mats that cover the cheap, loosely-fitted floor boards in many other cars.

Compare the cheap robe rail (sometimes hemp rope covered with imitation leather) with the Studebaker nickel-plated rail. Compare the forty-cent footrest with the comfortable, carpet-covered footrest, supported by polished aluminum brackets, in the Studebaker.

These comparisons are of features that can be seen. There are many more down under the surface that could be mentioned, such as the machining of all surfaces of the crankshaft and connecting rods of the Light-Six motor. This is largely responsible for the practical absence of vibration in the Studebaker Light-Six. This is an exclusive Studebaker practice on cars at this price.

If competition is so far inferior in its visible parts, it is a certainty that the hidden parts which really determine the satisfaction of a car will be equally inferior.

The Studebaker chassis is as far superior to any other motor car chassis in its price field as Studebaker upholstery is to other upholstery, as the Studebaker body is to any other motor car body in its price field.

Come in and see the Light-Six. Test its performance and comfort yourself. Again—Riding is believing.

There is room for different opinions within the party and a variety of opinion will result in legislation that is more in accord with public sentiment. It is certain that there are many in the republican party that do not agree with the majority sentiment in that party and something of this was disclosed in 1912 and was again disclosed in 1922.

The administration has come to the conclusion that a policy of boycott is not winning practical results and the party is after results. If the leaders are interested in the policies of the insurgents so that they will be willing to compromise on some things there is hope in this attempt to receive them into the fold, but if the effort is prompted by the party's desire to win votes in the next election without giving due recognition to the claims of the insurgents the attempt to woo them into the party will be hopeless. With insurgency on the gain the insurgents are not likely to be won unless they are given more than an invitation to return and be forgiven. They are in a position to dictate the terms of the armistice and unless these are considered they have the strength to fight on. For the party's success and the country's good there must be sensible compromise that will tone down the demands of radicals and liberalize the policies of the conservatives.

NOBODY gets the money that the consumer pays for coal. The consumer pays it, but where it goes to is a mystery that operators of the mines, transportation companies, dock companies and retailers cannot solve. But none of them get it, they say.

AMUSEMENTS

"The Rustle of Silk" Coming
"The Rustle of Silk," Herbert Brenon's first production for Paramount, in which Betty Compson and Conway Tearle are featured, will be on view at the Lyceum Theatre next Sunday. In addition to being published in book form, this Cosmo Hamilton story also ran as a serial and achieved great popularity. It is full of romance and possesses a certain naive quality so far as the feminine leading role is concerned.

Rex Beach Won Fame With "The Spoilers"

A literary person with a passion for figures has estimated that fully ten million books dealing with Alaska have been sold. Two names head the list of best sellers of Alaska novels. They are Rex Beach and Jack London.

Rex Beach's novel, "The Spoilers," according to the figures, is the most popular novel ever written about the far north. Its sales have run to the half million mark. Numerous editions have been printed. It is even now selling as well as the average novel, and it has been nearly twenty years since it was published.

Interest in the book was revived by the announcement that it was being filmed on an elaborate scale by Jesse D. Hampton at the Goldwyn studios. When it was screened some years ago it was the first big American picture. The new version has an all-star cast headed by Milton Sills, Barbara Bedford, Anna Q. Nilsson and Noah Beery. It will be the attraction at the New Park Theatre for two days, beginning Saturday.

COMPARE

The Maximum of Proved Intrinsic Value VS. Many Extravagant Claims of Superiority

SO many announcements of new model cars contain extravagant claims for the same superiority that it is puzzling to the buyer to know which value is real and which is only a claim.

This year the issue has been confused by the introduction of mechanical changes, some of which have been rushed into production while still in the experimental stage—and then immediately given wide publicity.

Important considerations have been overlooked and great stress placed upon unimportant details.

But the man who intends to buy a motor car need not let this confusion or the glamour of publicity lead him to make a mistake or risk satisfaction in his purchase. The automobiles themselves are available for comparison.

See and be convinced. Riding is believing. As an aid to intelligent buying we offer the following suggestions:

Place the 1924 model Studebaker Light-Six Touring Car at $995 alongside any car you may select as belonging in the same class. Every car looks well in the pictures—most cars make a good impression in their own show windows. The Studebaker Light-Six looks a winner alongside the best-looking competitor you can find. And it's larger, more substantial, roomier, more comfortable looking—and is more comfortable.

Compare the top. Look inside and out. The Studebaker top is sturdily built. Has four stout cross bows. Top material is same as is so satisfactorily used in the Big-Six. Notice the fit, feel the quality. The rear curtain is one-piece—has no seams—with a large rectangular window bound by an enameled molding.

Compare the body. Studebaker has a roomy, substantial, carefully made body—all-steel even to its framework, which permits a finish in baked enamel. A depressed belt line runs around the body and through the hood and radiator, adding to its distinctive appearance.

Compare the one-piece, rain-proof windshield, with built-in cowl lamps, with the ordinary two-piece windshield with rubber strip that leaks in every rain and always obstructs the driver's vision. Notice the large cowl ventilator that is quickly operated by merely moving the regulator backward or forward.

Compare the Studebaker door trimmings and fittings with the door fittings of other cars. Notice that the door pocket flaps have weights to hold them in position. Man-sized door handles and latches, positive-action door locks that catch with a snap and stay closed. Heavy hinges properly located and proportioned. Highest grade trimming material instead of painted cardboard. Fastening nails concealed.

Compare the aluminum-bound linoleum that is neatly fitted and fastened to the floor boards of this $995 Studebaker Light-Six with the rubber mats that cover the cheap, loosely-fitted floor boards in many other cars.

Compare the cheap robe rail (sometimes hemp rope covered with imitation leather) with the Studebaker nickel-plated rail. Compare the forty-cent footrest with the comfortable, carpet-covered footrest, supported by polished aluminum brackets, in the Studebaker.

These comparisons are of features that can be seen. There are many more down under the surface that could be mentioned, such as the machining of all surfaces of the crankshaft and connecting rods of the Light-Six motor. This is largely responsible for the practical absence of vibration in the Studebaker Light-Six. This is an exclusive Studebaker practice on cars at this price.

If competition is so far inferior in its visible parts, it is a certainty that the hidden parts which really determine the satisfaction of a car will be equally inferior.

The Studebaker chassis is as far superior to any other motor car chassis in its price field as Studebaker upholstery is to other upholstery, as the Studebaker body is to any other motor car body in its price field.

Come in and see the Light-Six. Test its performance and comfort yourself. Again—Riding is believing.

phrases, were carried by women.

Instantly the big crowd which had gathered to greet the former premier surged toward the paraders.

A dozen policemen streamed across the park at the double quick pace and one after another of the signs were torn down. They were torn to bits and trampled under the feet of the crowd which followed the police.

The women made no resistance. Five minutes later the battle scene was occupied only by street cleaners engaged in "mopping up" and gathering the fragments in their scuttles.

BROADWAY CANYON
ROARS A WELCOME

New York, Oct. 5.—Scenes reminiscent of celebrations that followed the arrival of American troops from France after the world war were enacted in the canyon of Broadway as the Lloyd George entourage rolled slowly up to City Hall park.

The air was filled with cheers that rang from hundreds of windows. People were banded in solid masses along both sides of Broadway.

The automobile containing Lloyd George reached City Hall at 12:25. Acting Mayor Murray Hurlburt was there to greet the distinguished visitor in the name of the city.

The demonstration had become noisier as the car carrying Lloyd George proceeded up Broadway. As the long columns of mounted policemen riding ahead wheeled into City Hall park a shower came from the buildings in the shape of a cloud of paper scraps. Telephone books were torn into bits and thrown out.

The chauffeurs of mail trucks in front of the Federal building gave Lloyd George a noisy salute by back-firing their motors until they sounded as if a battery of artillery was going into action.

When Lloyd George stepped from his car and entered the city hall the swelling roar of cheers obliterated the music of the police band which was playing a medley of American patriotic airs. The crowd was one of the largest that ever gathered at City Hall park to receive a foreign visitor, comparing favorably with the one that received Marshal Joffre in 1917.

Several women carrying the tricolor of the Irish Republic tried to make their way to Lloyd George's car. They made their attempt quietly, but when intercepted by police squads began to shout "Down with Lloyd George. We'll skin him alive. He's nothing but a Black and Tan." They were driven to the outskirts of the crowd by police and marched out of shouting distance by a squad of mounted police. No arrests were made.

Lloyd George smiled broadly as he came out of City Hall at one o'clock and stopped for the photographers.

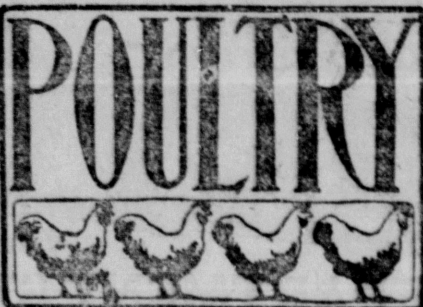

The last step of the journey was taken as the party proceeded up town to the Waldorf hotel.

The start from City Hall was made the occasion for another tremendous demonstration. The Irish sympathizers had been thoroughly squelched by police, and cheers and shouts were all praise to Lloyd George as his car made its way between the big crowd that lined the street on either side.

POULTRY

Avoid Overcrowding of Chicken House in Fall

Overcrowding of poultry houses, which generally means overheating, and is likely to cause colds and finally roup, is strongly deprecated by poultrymen of University Farm. A. C. Smith, in charge of the division of poultry husbandry, says:

"Because of the noticeable change in living conditions—from colony coops and free range to the poultry house and confinement—the young birds are timid and group themselves together in corners against the walls and partitions on the floors and roosting platforms. The birds become too warm while so closely grouped and, consequently, chill easily when they separate. To correct this habit, house only a few birds at a time. When these few become sufficiently accustomed to their quarters to take to the roost, house more birds, as those first in the winter shelter will act as teachers to those that follow.

"Until early winter sets in give all the air possible from one direction and do not subject the birds to a draft. In short, make the changes between the range and the winter quarters as gradual as possible. Provide a light loose litter of straw or leaves in which the fowls can get the exercise necessary to maintain health. Succulent food must be supplied as the birds are cut off from the green food of the range."

Merry Persian Monarch.
Some of the triumphant successes of modern life really originated years ago in other climes. Take chuting the chutes, for instance. That comes from Persia where a shah of the Eighteenth century had a marble slide constructed, terminating in a tank of water. "On fine summer days, having ordered out a certain number of his wives, the monarch in question having made them sit down at the top of the slide, each in turn would receive a push, with the result that after a swift descent she landed with a huge splash in the water beneath. This spectacle is said to have vastly amused the old shah, while the ladies, who were generally well compensated for their wetting, did not raise any objection."

To obtain the relative humidity from readings of the wet and dry thermometers, it is necessary to have the reading of a very accurate barometer. In order to know the air pressure. Macaroni
At It's Best

KITCHEN BOUQUET, a purely vegetable product, is in almost every pantry. Housewives know it is the secret of making good gravies and soups, but KITCHEN BOUQUET is equally good in preparing many other dishes. Try your next dish of macaroni prepared this way—

BAKED MACARONI

½ package macaroni, broken in pieces
2 teaspoons oil
¾ cup boiling water
½ cup grated cheese
1 teaspoon Kitchen Bouquet
Milk Butter

Cook macaroni in boiling salted water until tender, drain and blanch with cold water. Place one-third the cooked macaroni in buttered baking dish, dot with butter and sprinkle with grated cheese, then more macaroni, butter and cheese until dish is full. Add Kitchen Bouquet to milk and pour this over the macaroni to nearly cover, then sprinkle thickly with cheese. Bake in medium hot oven a half hour, until nicely browned and serve immediately for dinner.

KITCHEN BOUQUET

Clover Mixed—No. 1, $13; No. 2, $14. Midland Hay—No. 1, $14; No. 2, $10; No. 3, $7.

Chicago Potato Market

Chicago, Oct. 5.—Receipts 53 cars. Northern Whites, $1 to $1.30. Northern Red River Ohio, 90c to $1.15.

The Wonderful Horse.

O horse, you are a wonderful thing; no buttons to push, no horsas to honk; you start yourself, no clutch to slip; no spark to miss, no gears to strip; no license-buying every year, with plates to screw on front and rear; no gas bills climbing up each day, stealing the joy of life away; no speed cops chugging in your rear, yelling summons in your ear. Your inner tubes are all O. K. and, thank the Lord, they stay that way; your spark plugs never miss and fuss; your motor never makes us cuss. Your frame is good for many a mile; your body never changes style. Your wants are few and easy met; you've something on the auto yet.—H. R. Elliott in the American Forester.

REPORT ON THE SCHOOLS OF CITY

Total Enrollment in All Schools at Close of First Month Numbers 2054 Pupils

TOTAL HIGH SCHOOL IS 424

Five Buildings Now Provided With Assembly Rooms, Aid to Community Meetings

(By W. C. Cobb, Superintendent of Brainerd City Schools)

The completion of the first month of school makes it possible to find out definitely what the increase in the school attendance really is. The enrollment during the opening week was somewhat misleading because of the fact that this year a large number of pupils started to school at the very opening of the term, as they ought to have done, rather than waiting a week or two before enrolling.

Exclusive of the normal training department, there are 70 more pupils enrolled this year in all the schools than a year ago. In three schools only has there been an appreciable change in enrollment and attendance over that of last year. The Harrison school has 29 more pupils than it had last year and has two more teachers in the building, so that the crowded condition in this school has been largely corrected. The Lowell school shows an increase of 35 pupils and two additional teachers have been employed to relieve the crowded condition and also to give the principal more time to look after the building as a whole. The increase in the high school enrollment over that of last year is 26, with two additional teachers, so that the high school is in much better shape to do effective and efficient work than heretofore and the classes are not as unduly crowded as they were last year, especially during the early part of the year.

The total enrollment in all the schools at the close of the first month is 2054. The total enrollment in the high school is 424. The enrollment in the grades is 1630, distributed as follows: Whittier school 236; Harrison, 351; Garfield, 51; Washington (upper grades only) 144; Lincoln, 330; Riverside, 77; Lowell, 441.

The Whittier school has a slightly smaller enrollment and a slightly smaller average attendance for the month of September than they had a year ago.

The Lincoln school at the present time is slightly more crowded than any other schools in the city, owing to the transfer of the lower grades from the Washington building. The average number of pupils per teacher at the Lincoln based on average attendance would be 34, but as an equal distribution in all rooms is not possible, two or three of the rooms in this building are large under present day standards, although none exceed the limit of 40.

Owing to the improvements that have been made during the summer in the school buildings in the various parts of the city, it has been possible to employ six more teachers than last year to look after the graded schools, and we believe that few, if any rooms will permanently need to care for as many as 40 pupils to the room, whereas last year, during the fall term ten or a dozen rooms exceeded the forty limit.

The installation of complete new entrances in all of the buildings of the city, with glass doors and panic locks, has added greatly to the appearance, comfort, and safety of all the school buildings. The hallways, including the basements, receive much more direct sunlight and the doors are always unlocked from the inside and open outward so easily that it would seem impossible, whether in fire drill or in a case of actual necessity, for a door to ever be blocked.

Five buildings are now provided with assembly rooms, which will furnish convenient meeting places for parent-teacher meetings or community gatherings in the several wards. These assembly rooms will all be well lighted with the latest modern lighting system and ought to fill a long felt need. Additional drinking fountains and lavatory equipment has also been provided for in nearly all of the buildings and will be installed as soon as this equipment arrives.

A very extensive improvement has been made in the high school building, where about 600 pupils are housed and where in recent years congestion has been very pronounced. The changes in the high school building will be better appreciated by those interested in the high school by making a personal visit to the building and viewing what has been done from basement to attic. The placement of a standard stairway from the attic through the assembly room and continuing down to the main south entrance and basement has apparently removed the danger, in case of fire or panic, on three entire floors.

By the readjustment of the grade rooms in the high school and Lincoln buildings, and the addition of some new class rooms on the third floor at the high school, five more class rooms are available for high school use. With the exception of the manual training quarters and the chemical laboratory, high school classes have been removed from basement quarters. A separate room, adequate in size, and equipped with tables and apparatus case, has been fitted up on the first floor for a physical laboratory.

Now that the gymnasium on the third floor has been lathed and plastered and adequate stairway provided at the north and south ends in addition to the two fire escapes on the east and west sides, instead of being used occasionally, as in the past, for a basketball game, it is contemplated that its use will be continuous during a greater part of the day. Under the new state law requiring a definite number of hours per week to be given to physical and health education in every school in the state, the use of this large room becomes almost indispensable in order to meet the requirements of the new law. The high school building is being equipped on three floors with a new modern electric lighting system, which will add greatly to the general appearance of the rooms and hallways as well as supplement the inadequate lighting of many of the interior rooms on dark days.

The high school quarters have, under the improvements made during the vacation, been rendered much more comfortable and adequate for doing effective work than they have been for a number of years, but it would be erroneous for any one to conclude that these improvements were intended by the board of education as a substitute measure for a new high school building, which is still sadly needed in Brainerd and which should be provided as early as possible. The improvements that have been made were absolutely necessary in order to meet immediate present needs and comply with the state standards and requirements. But the growth of this high school, which has been steady and continuous for six or seven consecutive years, the crowded conditions, which has been but temporarily relieved, will exist in all reasonable probability within another year. In fact the improvements that were made in the high school were made largely in the interest of health and safety and in order to salvage the property for additional grade rooms and junior high school quarters, when a new high school building has been provided. It is the intention of the board of education to select an architect in the near future and then under an architect's advice and suggestions submit to the voters of Brainerd for their decision the very pressing and important problem in this city—an adequate high school building in keeping with the needs and standards of Minnesota schools.

It must be remembered that in order to temporarily relieve the high school building for the immediate present it became necessary to transfer grade pupils to the Lincoln building and to retain at the Harrison building a class that in former years has been quartered in the high school building. The Lincoln and Harrison buildings are at present occupied to their full capacity and any addition of grade pupils in either of these two quarters will present the same embarrassment as to congestion as existed a year ago.

The normal training department this year consists of eleven graduate students. It is pertinent at this time to call the attention of parents as well as girls in the graduating class to some important facts concerning the normal training department. There is no question concerning the desirability of maintaining this department permanently from year to year, both from the standpoint of the educational needs of the county as well as for considerations of economy to many parents residing in this school district. If, however, the department is to be made a permanent feature of the high school from year to year, it will be necessary for both parents and members of the graduating classes to have more accurate knowledge as to what the state expects and requires in order to establish such a department in a local high school.

It must be remembered that the normal training department is a state institution, directed and controlled as well as paid for by the state itself. It is not left to the option of the local authorities as to who may or may not be enrolled. It is expected and required under the printed regulations that applications for enrollment shall be made by members of a graduating class in May, so that their school records may be submitted to the state inspector to be passed upon and approved or rejected before the close of school in June. It should be remembered by students and parents that mere graduation from the high school does not permit a student to enroll in a training department, as a scholarship requirement during the four years high school course is taken into consideration. The state department by personal letter has made it very emphatic that they do not wish to receive students in the normal training department with high school records containing many marks in the seventies (70's). The state expects a creditable high school record as to scholarship as a prerequisite for normal training work, and parents should very carefully note this fact and co-operate with the high school teachers in securing a creditable high school record. The state department has made it clear that they do not desire propaganda exercised at the close of the year in a frantic effort to meet the minimum number required, as there are now more towns desiring the normal training departments and with the full quota of students than the appropriation will provide for. Instead of waiting until the close of the year, all parents, desiring to have their daughters enter the normal training department for another year, should be considering the matter at the present time and should consult with the normal training director, the superintendent of schools and the principal of the high school in order to avoid a recurrence of the embarrassment of last spring in connection with enrollment for the present year. It should be also noted with great care that not priority of registration but the character of the high school student record will determine which ones are admitted to a department and which are rejected.

The state inspector informed us recently that the limited registration of last spring, with some questions as to the scholarship record of some of the applicants, would not have justified him in granting a normal training department to Brainerd, had he been acquainted with all the facts. As an indication of the growth in the high school department, there are about a dozen more pupils in the senior class this year than last and the school will undoubtedly graduate the largest class in its history. More than 65 non-resident pupils are registered in the high school department, and it is highly probable that this number would rapidly increase to more than a hundred as soon as a new high school building is built, as the history of every town in the state has demonstrated that a new high school building usually doubles the high school enrollment within a very few years.

The tuition fee of $3 per month for non-resident pupils in the graded schools of this city has undoubtedly diminished the total enrollment by a score or more. A number of pupils in the grades were compelled to drop out because of the tuition fee, and others, who had planned on entering, were prevented from enrolling because of the payment. Every one regrets from the standpoint of children unfortunately situated for school facilities the necessity of excluding a child from attendance in the city schools, but the reasonableness of the charge of the fee of $3 per month is beyond question, in fact it is very cheap, when compared with the cost of furnishing the school facilities. Minneapolis has found it necessary, because of the increasing costs of education, to make the tuition charge more than twice the amount charged in Brainerd. As the estimated cost of a year's schooling in Brainerd per pupil will be in excess of $60, it is self evident that the charge fixed by the board of education is much less than the actual cost of education in this city.

REPORT ON THE SCHOOLS OF CITY

Total Enrollment in All Schools at Close of First Month Numbers
2054 Pupils

TOTAL HIGH SCHOOL IS 424

Five Buildings Now Provided With Assembly Rooms, Aid to Community Meetings

(By W. C. Cobb, Superintendent of BRAINERD CITY SCHOOLS)

The completion of the first month of school makes it possible to find out definitely what the increase in the school attendance really is. The enrollment during the opening week was somewhat misleading because of the fact that this year a large number of pupils started to school at the very opening of the term, as they ought to have done, rather than waiting a week or two before enrolling.

Exclusive of the normal training department, there are 70 more pupils enrolled this year in all the schools than a year ago. In three schools only has there been an appreciable change in enrollment and attendance over that of last year. The Harrison school has 29 more pupils than it had last year and has two more teachers in the building, so that the crowded condition in this school has been largely corrected. The Lowell school shows an increase of 35 pupils and two additional teachers have been employed to relieve the crowded condition and also to give the principal more time to look after the building as a whole. The increase in the high school enrollment over that of last year is 26, with two additional teachers, so that the high school is in much better shape to do effective and efficient work than heretofore and the classes are not as unduly crowded as they were last year, especially during the early part of the year.

The total enrollment in all the schools at the close of the first month is 2054. The total enrollment in the high school is 424. The enrollment in the grades is 1630, distributed as follows: Whittier school 236; Harrison, 351; Garfield, 51; Washington (upper grades only) 144; Lincoln, 330; Riverside, 77; Lowell, 441.

The Whittier school has a slightly smaller enrollment and a slightly smaller average attendance for the month of September than they had a year ago.

The Lincoln school at the present time is slightly more crowded than any other schools in the city, owing to the transfer of the lower grades from the Washington building. The average number of pupils per teacher at the Lincoln based on average attendance would be 34, but as an equal distribution in all rooms is not possible, two or three of the rooms in this building are large under present day standards, although none exceed the limit of 40.

Owing to the improvements that have been made during the summer in the school buildings in the various parts of the city, it has been possible to employ six more teachers than last year to look after the graded schools, and we believe that few, if any rooms will permanently need to care for as many as 40 pupils to the room, whereas last year, during the fall term ten or a dozen rooms exceeded the forty limit.

The installation of complete new entrances in all of the buildings of the city, with glass doors and panic locks, has added greatly to the appearance, comfort, and safety of all the school buildings. The hallways, including the basements, receive much more direct sunlight and the doors are always unlocked from the inside and open outward so easily that it would seem impossible, whether in fire drill or in a case of actual necessity, for a door to ever be blocked.

Five buildings are now provided with assembly rooms, which will furnish convenient meeting places for parent-teacher meetings or community gatherings in the several wards. These assembly rooms will all be well lighted with the latest modern lighting system and ought to fill a long felt need. Additional drinking fountains and lavatory equipment has also been provided for in nearly all of the buildings and will be installed as soon as the equipment arrives.

A very extensive improvement has been made in the high school building, where about 600 pupils are housed and where in recent years congestion has been very pronounced. The changes in the high school building will be better appreciated by those interested in the high school by making a personal visit to the building and viewing what has been done from basement to attic. The placement of a standard stairway from the attic through the assembly room and continuing down to the main south entrance and basement has apparently removed the danger, in case of fire or panic, on three entire floors.

By the readjustment of the grade rooms in the high school and Lincoln buildings, and the addition of some new class rooms on the third floor at the high school, five more class rooms are available for high school use. With the exception of the manual training quarters and the chemical laboratory, high school classes have been removed from basement quarters. A separate room, adequate in size, and equipped with tables and apparatus case, has been fitted up on the first floor for a physical laboratory.

Now that the gymnasium on the third floor has been lathed and plastered and adequate stairway provided at the north and south ends in addition to the two fire escapes on the east and west sides, instead of being used occasionally, as in the past, for a basketball game, it is contemplated that its use will be continuous during a greater part of the day. Under the new state law requiring a definite number of hours per week to be given to physical and health education in every school in the state, the use of this large room becomes almost indispensable in order to meet the requirements of the new law. The high school building is being equipped on three floors with a new modern electric lighting system, which will add greatly to the general appearance of the rooms and hallways as well as supplement the inadequate lighting of many of the interior rooms on dark days.

The high school quarters have, under the improvements made during the vacation, been rendered much more comfortable and adequate for doing effective work than they have been for a number of years, but it would be erroneous for any one to conclude that these improvements were intended by the board of education as a substitute measure for a new high school building, which is still sadly needed in Brainerd and which should be provided as early as possible. GIANT INFIELD IS STRONGER ON OFFENSIVE

By HENRY L. FARRELL
United Press Sports Editor

New York, Oct. 5.—Comparing the infields of the Yankees and the Giants it will be found that the National League champions have an edge in the power of their attack, while the two combinations are about evenly matched on the defense.

Wally Pipp, first baseman of the Yankees, is a real star, whose value to the club is not superficially apparent. Pipp is regarded by many first class pitchers as the most dangerous batter on the team. He is a hard worker, a good reliable fielder and a player of ideal temperament.

Kelly, the rival first sacker of the Giants, has only one marked superiority over Pipp, and that consists in his possession of one of the finest arms in baseball. On double plays, throwing to third and relaying from the outfield, his whip is a most valuable asset to the team. Kelly ought to be a great hitter, but he fell off greatly this year and was shoved way down the lineup. In fielding and in covering foul territory he is perhaps as good, but no better than Pipp.

The hitting power of Pipp gives the Yankees a slight edge on first base.

Two of the best second basemen in the major leagues are to be found on the opposing clubs.

Because of his ability as a hitter and a base runner, Frankie Frisch will be favored over Erin Ward.

Ward was one of the most improved ball players of the past season. He always had the potential ability to star, but it took him some time to figure out second base after he had been started at third.

In fielding, Frisch and Ward are spectacular and brilliant. Frisch is better in getting back into short rightfield but he doesn't handle the ball as cleanly as Ward and his value on double plays is thereby reduced. Frisch hits better, gets on base oftener than Ward and he is one of the most daring base runners in baseball. In tight games his ability on the bases will make him of more value to the club than Ward.

The advantage, slight as it may be, rests with the Giants on second base.

Dave Bancroft, captain and shortstop of the present world's champions, is the spark plug of the whole team. He is erratic at times and he falls frequently into errors at the most critical times, but he has assets that overcome that weakness.

Bancroft is the brainiest shortstop in the game and he carries the load of directing the team on the field. He is a fighting, aggressive player and a steady influence upon the whole team, especially upon the pitchers.

Everett Scott was once a great shortstop, but he has slowed up terribly. He cannot cover territory with Bancroft and he cannot throw like the Giant captain. On the middle of a double play, Bancroft has a marked advantage over him.

Scott is more reliable and more steady than Bancroft, but drives will get past him that will never pass the Giant star. Bancroft is a more reliable batter and a faster man on the bases.

Like Scott, Heinie Groh, the Giant third baseman, is another player who has passed the day of his greatness. Groh once was the star of all the third basemen, but his legs have gone bad on him and third base is no place for a player with bad legs.

Joe Dugan is the best third baseman in baseball, one of the best of them all. He hasn't the batting average of Groh, but the hitting of the Giant third baseman is not so sensational as to make that a marked difference.

The decline of Scott has forced Dugan to cover more territory than any other third baseman in the major leagues. He can get over so well to his right that he finds it possible to protect almost half of Scott's terrain.

No player in baseball can throw with Dugan. There are stronger and faster arms but no player can get a throw away from any position like Dugan can. He is fast coming in for a bunt. Groh is necessarily slow. Dugan handles the ball cleanly, where Groh usually fights it. He is especially good at knocking down drives along the leftfield foul line, where Groh is too slow to get over for them.

Dugan is a smart player, he has fine temperament and spirit. He is perfectly satisfied with his job and he has abandoned the ways of a Polly Anna that had him when he was with the Athletics.

In reserve strength, the Yanks have very little, while the Giants have the best reinforcements in baseball.

Mike McNally, who can play second, short or third, and Ernie Johnson, former White Sox shortstop, are the only two experienced reserves upon whom Miller Huggins could call in an emergency. And in a hard played series where so much money is at stake and where there is a real spirit of rivalry, the chances of an emergency are not to be disregarded.

John McGraw has unlimited material to plug up any hole that might be caused by an accident to the Giant infield.

Jimmy O'Connell and Jack Bentley are both good first basemen, and Kelly would hardly be missed. In fact, some critics believe that the Giants would be no worse off with Kelly on the bench.

"Pep" Young and Bill Cunningham can both play second base acceptably, but they would hardly be called upon as substitutes with young Maguire, one of the most promising young players in the league, on the bench.

Travis Jackson, the Little Rock youngster, who filled Bancroft's shoes in fine shape during most of the mid-season, is a better shortstop than several who have regular jobs on other clubs.

If anything should happen to Heinie Groh—and he can't stand many hard bumps at third base—Frisch could be shifted over to third base and the effectiveness of the combination wouldn't be reduced one third.

MINNESOTA PLAYS AMES SATURDAY

Minneapolis, Oct. 4.—Minnesota will go against Ames College Saturday with a mystery team. The mystery will not lie in trick plays, but in the personnel of the eleven. Practice has not shown who will make the team and who will not, neither has Bill Spaulding been willing to say who will be called upon to perform in the first start of the season.

"Bear" stories aside, Minnesota has endured some crippling mishaps recently. Captain Martineau has a broken bone in his hand. Pete Guzy, diminutive quarterback candidate, has a splintered finger; Foote, another promising quarter, is out for the season with a broken leg. The "breaks" have gone against the team in the second week of practice.

Ames will come up from Iowa with a heavy team picked from a squad that numbered 135 at spring practice, twice the number that turned out at Minnesota. Ames has played one game, against Simpson college, winning by a small margin. The Gophers have not been seen in action as yet, except for a public practice session at which the regulars downed the scrubs, 26 to 0.

Interesting sidelights were thrown on the team in this display. At the halves, Lindberg and Graham showed ground gaining ability, but it was against scrub material. No one is predicting that they can find the same kind of holes in the opposing lines they will face during the year, nor that they will be able to speed through for corresponding gains.

About everything Spaulding has in the way of first class material was given a chance during the early days of the week. One thing is certain. Minnesota will not be a "one team" aggregation this year. When one player goes out with injuries, someone else about as capable will be there to fill the gap.

At last four of the regular performers in last year's line will be seen when the University of Minnesota football team goes into the field for major games this season. This is the prediction of fans, although Bill Spaulding, head coach at Minnesota, is saying nothing.

Cox, Gross, Abrahamson and Schjoll, the last named an end, seemed slated to start most of the engagements. Cox seems a fixture at tackle, the St. Paul boy having improved in strength and aggressiveness over a year ago. He also has avoided the injuries which kept him out so much last season. Gross may be used either at tackle or guard, though with Bennett and Gay there seems less use for him in the position next to center than at tackle. Abrahamson has been used steadily at the other guard.

Carl Schjoll's playing has showed marked improvement over what it was last year. He is being pressed by a world of good end material, but seems capable of breasting the torrent. On the other wing Eklund, a real star at whatever he does, is showing everything in football. Merrill and Just are other ends with whom the leading candidates will have to reckon at the start of every game.

Oster, Peterson, Lindberg, Holmberg, Johnson, Van Duzee, Graham

and Ascher are players among whom will be chosen most of the backfield running mates to Captain Earl Martineau. With Foote out for the season his leg broken, Fred Gross, last year's quarter, Malcolm Graham, and Peter Guzy remain as contenders for the bean position. Of the three Gross is the heaviest and most experienced. Graham is fast, Guzy a formidable passer, but very light. All probably will have a chance to show their caliber long before the 1924 football season is written down as history.

BRAINERD MEETS CROSBY SATURDAY

BLUE AND WHITE HOPES TO WIPE OFF DEFEATS OF ST. CLOUD AND STAPLES

(By L. P.)

The Brainerd high school football team is scheduled to meet the Crosby team Saturday on the Brainerd grounds.

The Blue and White hopes to wipe off the defeats handed to them by Staples and St. Cloud.

The game will be called at 3:15 o'clock and will be played at the new gridiron near the corner of Second street north and Main street, on the railway property.

Football tickets for the students are fifteen cents each and for adults 25c each. By this reduction the locals hope to see a big turnout of local boosters, both old and young. This does much to help the home team to success.

The probable lineup for tomorrow's game is as follows: Helkkenen, half back; Lowe, full back; Dahl, half back; Capt. Fogelstrom, quarterback; Day, left end; Golomboski, left tackle; Brown, left guard; Peterson, center; Melfert, right guard; Zakariassen, right tackle.

GIANT INFIELD IS STRONGER ON OFFENSIVE

By HENRY L. FARRELL
United Press Sports Editor

New York, Oct. 5.—Comparing the infields of the Yankees and the Giants it will be found that the National League champions have an edge in the power of their attack, while the two combinations are about evenly matched on the defense.

Wally Pipp, first baseman of the Yankees, is a real star, whose value to the club is not superficially apparent. Pipp is regarded by many first class pitchers as the most dangerous batter on the team. He is a hard worker, a good reliable fielder and a player of ideal temperament.

Tris Speaker's Record Fails to Impress Fans Of Pacific Coast Loop

San Francisco, Oct. 5.—Pacific coast baseball fans and sporting statisticians chuckled gleefully when apprised that Tris Speaker, whom they all admitted was a mighty man with a baseball bat, had set a purported world record by knocking out 56 two base hits this season.

Such a performance, they averred, was not worthy of that designation, and in support of their argument, pointed towards the records of Leslie of Salt Lake City in the Pacific coast league, who has 73 two base hits to his credit with the season two weeks to go, and Sheehan of the same team, who has 71, not to mention Eldred of Seattle, who has 66 and who finished last season with a total of 60, or Paul Strand's present total of 63, or San Francisco's Ellison, who has doubled 61 times this season, or Poole of Portland, who has duplicated this feat.

MINNESOTA PLAYS AMES SATURDAY

Minneapolis, Oct. 4.—Minnesota will go against Ames College Saturday with a mystery team. The mystery will not lie in trick plays, but in the personnel of the eleven. Practice has not shown who will make the team and who will not, neither has Bill Spaulding been willing to say who will be called upon to perform in the first start of the season.

"Bear" stories aside, Minnesota has endured some crippling mishaps recently. Captain Martineau has a broken bone in his hand. Pete Guzy, diminutive quarterback candidate, has a splintered finger; Foote, another promising quarter, is out for the season with a broken leg. The "breaks" have gone against the team in the second week of practice.

Ames will come up from Iowa with a heavy team picked from a squad that numbered 135 at spring practice, twice the number that turned out at Minnesota. Ames has played one game, against Simpson college, winning by a small margin. The Gophers have not been seen in action as yet, except for a public practice session at which the regulars downed the scrubs, 26 to 0.

Interesting sidelights were thrown on the team in this display. At the halves, Lindberg and Graham showed ground gaining ability, but it was against scrub material. No one is predicting that they can find the same kind of holes in the opposing lines they will face during the year, nor that they will be able to speed through for corresponding gains.

About everything Spaulding has in the way of first class material was given a chance during the early days of the week. One thing is certain. Minnesota will not be a "one team" aggregation this year. When one player goes out with injuries, someone else about as capable will be there to fill the gap.

At last four of the regular performers in last year's line will be seen when the University of Minnesota football team goes into the field for major games this season. This is the prediction of fans, although Bill Spaulding, head coach at Minnesota, is saying nothing.

Cox, Gross, Abrahamson and Schjoll, the last named an end, seemed slated to start most of the engagements. Cox seems a fixture at tackle, the St. Paul boy having improved in strength and aggressiveness over a year ago. He also has avoided the injuries which kept him out so much last season. Gross may be used either at tackle or guard, though with Bennett and Gay there seems less use for him in the position next to center than at tackle. Abrahamson has been used steadily at the other guard.

Carl Schjoll's playing has showed marked improvement over what it was last year. He is being pressed by a world of good end material, but seems capable of breasting the torrent. On the other wing Eklund, a real star at whatever he does, is showing everything in football. Merrill and Just are other ends with whom the leading candidates will have to reckon at the start of every game.

Oster, Peterson, Lindberg, Holmberg, Johnson, Van Duzee, Graham

and Ascher are players among whom will be chosen most of the backfield running mates to Captain Earl Martineau. With Foote out for the season his leg broken, Fred Gross, last year's quarter, Malcolm Graham, and Peter Guzy remain as contenders for the bean position. Of the three Gross is the heaviest and most experienced. Graham is fast, Guzy a formidable passer, but very light. All probably will have a chance to show their caliber long before the 1924 football season is written down as history.

BRAINERD MEETS CROSBY SATURDAY

BLUE AND WHITE HOPES TO WIPE OFF DEFEATS OF ST. CLOUD AND STAPLES

(By L. P.)

The Brainerd high school football team is scheduled to meet the Crosby team Saturday on the Brainerd grounds.

The Blue and White hopes to wipe off the defeats handed to them by Staples and St. Cloud.

The game will be called at 3:15 o'clock and will be played at the new gridiron near the corner of Second street north and Main street, on the railway property.

Football tickets for the students are fifteen cents each and for adults 25c each. By this reduction the locals hope to see a big turnout of local boosters, both old and young. This does much to help the home team to success.
